Photographer and visual artist born in Buenos Aires, Argentina (1969). In her 25-year career, she has used photography as a means to raise awareness. Her art projects reflect her concern for the wellbeing of the universe and the preservation of nature and the planet.

She has produced and taken part in different solo and collective exhibitions in countries around the world, including Argentina, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Peru, the US, Russia, China and Japan.

PERSONAL PROJECTS

---

La Diablada (Dance of the Demons) (2017), a production inspired by the Carnival rituals and the Andean traditions.

Creer para Ver, (Believe to See) started in 2016, still in process. A multidisciplinary project that spreads the voice of 12 spiritual leaders of different beliefs, philosophies and cultures from around the world, supported by ONU.

Divina Belleza (Divine Beauty) (2015), thirteen portraits of girls representing different aspects of beauty, in a photo essay that deals with the theme of Sacred Geometry.

Estados de Conciencia (States of Consciousness) (2013), a series of dream-like photographs that explore the different stages in the quest for self-discovery. (2014) Publication of her second book, Estados de Conciencia.

Uno (One) (2011), a series of photographs inspired by the idea of 'oneness' and the fusion of man and nature.

La Basura no es Basura (Rubbish is not Rubbish) (2010)

Huella Ecológica (Ecological Footprint) (2009)

Both projects were carried out in association with Fundación Azara and dealt with the ecological imbalance on our planet.

Aves del Paraíso (Paradise Birds) (2008), a visual metaphor in which humans merge with birds. The book is a call to action on environmental issues that are leading to the extinction of so many species.

Heroínas (Heroines) (2000), inspired by renowned women, some unrecognized as heroines in Argentinian history.

Huellas (Traces) (1999), photographs that highlight the identity of native Argentinian women, with the support of the United Nations.
